Lunch is on Woodfibre LNG

As part of Construction Month 2021 and to show appreciation for the local trade industry, Woodfibre LNG has launched a contest to win lunch.

Squamish (Squamish), B.C. - April 2021 is the fourth annual Construction Month in B.C. and in support of the British Columbia Construction Association and all the other Construction Month 2021 sponsors, Woodfibre LNG is paying it forward. Woodfibre LNG wants to buy lunch for local construction and tradespeople in Squamish. A social media contest called #lunchboxchallenge goes live today and invites local tradespeople to apply to win lunch for themselves and their teams – all they have to do is say why they would appreciate free lunch and sign up to receive Woodfibre LNG's newsletter. Full details about the contest can be found here: www.woodfibrelng.ca/lunchbox

Together with B.C. Construction Association and Construction Month 2021 sponsors, Woodfibre LNG wants to recognize hardworking construction and tradespeople in Squamish. The company is grateful to have received a grant for $250 from Construction Month to buy its construction team lunch. Instead of using the grant themselves, Woodfibre LNG will pay it forward and buy lunch from local eatery Norman Rudy's for 100 construction and tradespeople in Squamish.

"We are delighted to do our bit to recognize the local hardworking construction and tradespeople who do so much for the local community. Buying them lunch is just a small, yet important way to recognize them," said Ron Bailey, Acting President of Woodfibre LNG. "It's also an opportunity for us to support a local restaurant at a time when Squamish's hospitality industry continues to suffer from the impacts of COVID-19 related restrictions."

Since 2013, Woodfibre LNG has contributed over $1 million (including through the Community Sponsorship Program grants) to groups and events that help make Squamish such a vibrant community.
